

Muslim Prayer Mats

Muslim Prayer Mats

Muslims pray five times a day, this is known as Salah and is one of the five pillars of Islam. They are called to pray at dawn, mid-day, afternoon, after sunset, and at night. Besides standing, you bow and touch the ground with your forehead. Prayers are said facing towards Mecca.

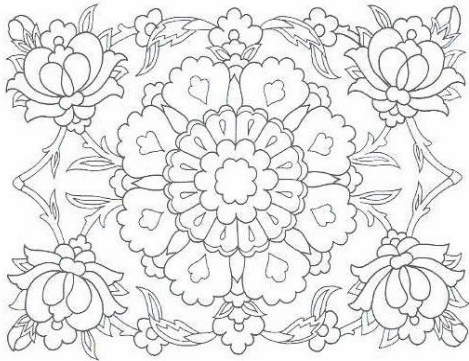

While Muslims believe that it is best to pray within a mosque, prayers may take place anywhere that is clean, dignified, and large enough to make the worship movements.

The tradition of colourfully decorated prayer mats may have started with a humble rattan mat. Many prayer mats are woven in the Persian rug tradition, although they are smaller in size. The design does not have to be symmetrical but has a direction and is always laid down facing Mecca. According to Islamic tradition, no person or animal is depicted on a Prayer mat. They will often contain geometric patterns, verses from the Qur'an in Arabic and flowers (representing paradise) in the design.

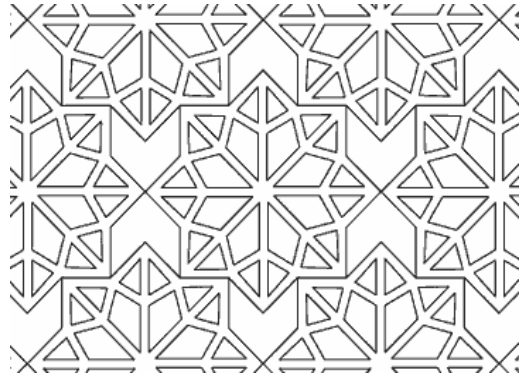

Did you know that because sunrise and sunset move across the face of the Earth, the times that Muslims pray move as well. There is never a moment when someone is not praying towards Mecca.

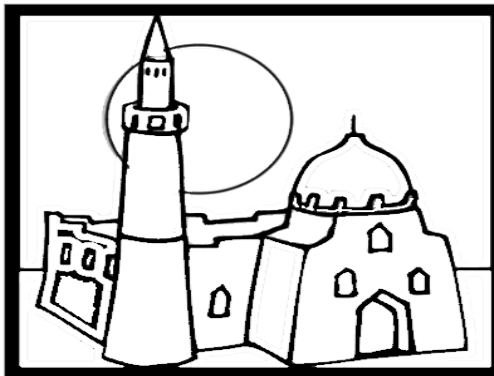

Prayer Mat Motifs

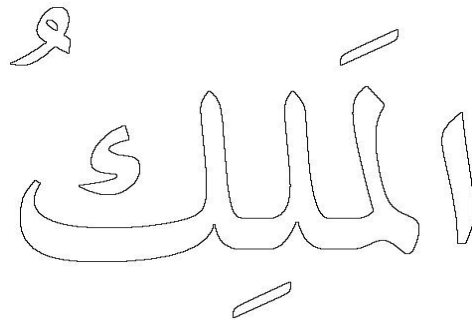

Flowers - representing paradise

Repeating geometric patterns

Pictures of mosques

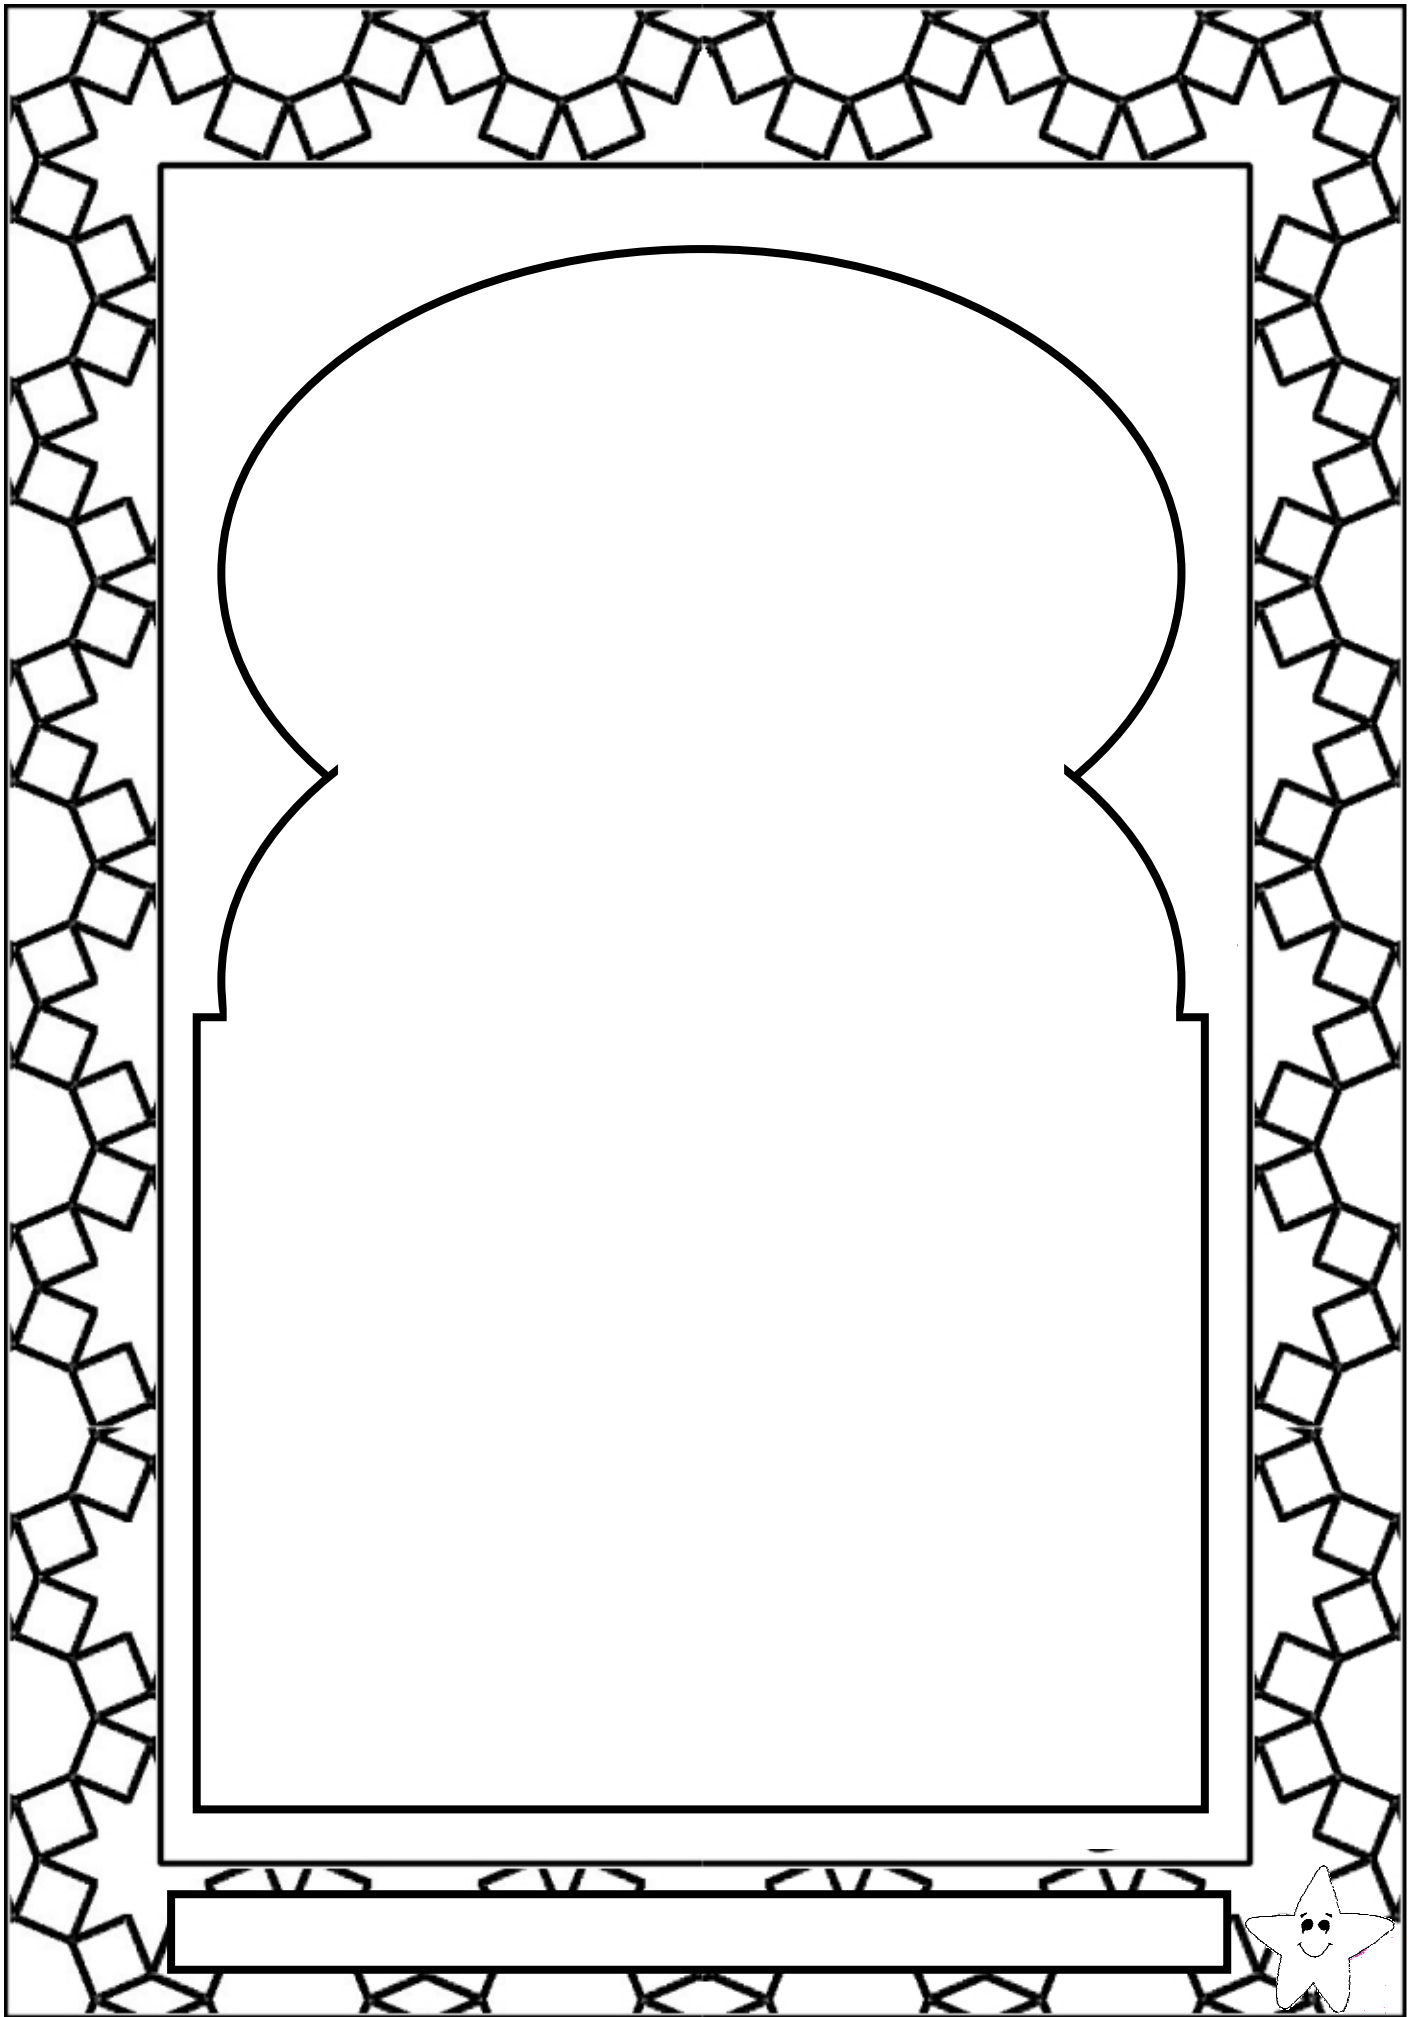

Arabic writing from the Qur'an. This reads 'Al Malik' ~ the King.

Which Islamic motifs do you like? Experiment with them on an outline mat. Draw your ideas with pencil, then colour them in with felt tips or pencil crayons. Include a central motif, borders, and intricate patterns.

Try to capture the unique colours of these beautiful rugs

The Treasure Box

 P.O. Box 140, Whalley, Clitheroe, BB7 0WZ
  www.the-treasure-box.co.uk

Do you say 'Well Done!' or should you say 'Shaabaash!', 'Bhalol' or 'Dobrze!'?

How much nicer to be praised in your mother tongue, or to introduce words of praise in another language.

Multicultural Praise Stamps

Available in Arabic, Bengali, Cantonese, Gujarati, Greek, Hindi, Japanese, Lithuanian, Mandarin, Polish, Punjabi, Romanian, Russian, Slovak, Somali, Swahili and Urdu.

Only £5 each

Multicultural Stickers

Dual language sticker sets in Bengali, Hindi, Polish and Urdu

Only £1.35 per sheet

Modern Foreign Language Sets

A set of 5 pre-linked stampers Available in English, French, German, Italian, Spanish and Welsh

Only £17.50 per set

from £13.99 each

Puppets

We stock a full range of 'Puppet Buddies' in a range of ages, sizes and skin tones. We also stock a series of 'People Who Help Us' flat puppets, multicultural finger puppet families and Traditional Story Sets.

Only £4.50 each

Visit www.the-treasure-box.co.uk today!

Pictures for illustration purposes only. Please refer to website for full details of size, postage costs and how to order. Prices correct at date of printing, June 2008.